DAILY GAZETTE.

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, TUESDAY, MARCH 26, 1861.

WHO SAW THE STEER? The richest hing of the season, says the Newburyport Herald, came off the other day in the neigh borhood of the market. The greenest Jon athan imaginable, decked out in a slouched hat, a long blue frock, and a pair of cow-hide shoes, big as gondolas, with a huge whip under his arm, stalked into a billiard saloon, where half a dozen persons were improving the time in trundling the ivories, and after his first surprise at the singular aspect of the room, inquired if "any one of em had seen a stray steer," affirming that the "hlasted eritter got away as he came through town with his drove tother day, and he had'nt seen nothin' of him since." The bloods denied all knowledge of the animal in question, and with much sly winking at each other, proceeded to condole with him on his loss in the most heartfelt manner.

He watched the game with much interest, as he had evidently never seen or heard of anything of the kind before, and created much amusement by his demonstrations of applause when a good shot was made—
"Jerusaleni!" being a favorite interjection.
At last he made bold to request the privilege of trying his skill, when he set the crowd in a roar by his awkward movements. However he gradually got his hand in, and played as well as could be expected for a greenhorn. All hands how began to praise him, which so elated him that he actually began to think himself a second Phelan, and he offered to bet a dollar with his opponent which, of course, he lost. The loss and laugh so irritated him that he offered to play another game and bet two dollars, which he pulled out of a large roll—for it seems his cattle bad sold well, and he was quite flush.

This bet he also lost, as the fool might have known he would, when, mad as a March hare, he pulled out a fifty spot, the largest bill he had, and offered to bet that on another game. The crowd mustered round and raised the money to cover it, and at it they went again, when, by some strange turn of luck, the greeny won. He now of fered to put up the hundred he had won against another hundred. Of course he could not blander into another game, so they could now win back what they had lost. and fleece the fellow out of his roll besides. They sent out for a famous player, who hap-pened to have money enough to bet with, and another game was played, which Jonathan won. Another hundred was also raised and bet, and won, and it was not until he had blundered through half a dozen games, and by some unaccountable run of luck, won them all, draining the pockets of his opponents of about four hundred dollars, that they began to smell a very large "mice."
When everybody got tired of playing, gawky pulled his frock over his head, took his whip under his arm and walked quietly out, turning round at the door and remarking, "Gentlemen, if you should happen to see anything of that steer, I wish you would let me know." At last accounts they had not seen the steer, but they came to the conclusion they saw the elephant. MARVELOUS FEATS OF CAGLIOSTRE THE WIZARD.—At the Park de Monceaux, says the Paris correspondent of the New leans Picayune, Cagliostro, anticipated all the wonders of our modern table turners and spirit evokers, and displayed others none of our contemporaries pretend to perform. Where is the spirit evoker who has, as he did, raised spirits from the dead and made them visible to mortal eyes, as she of Endor raised Saul's soul? This astonishing feat Cagliostro did perform, and a hundred people have avouched they saw him do so with their own eyes.-would evoke them: in a dimly There would be twice as many chairs around the table as there were persons (quick, not dead,) present; at each living nan's side there would be a vacant chair he would select the partner he wished to rescue from the grave. . . .

These chosen, Cagliostro would evoke them and the shadows would glide noise. lessly into the room—not pale and shrouded, but glowing with all the attractions of life, and attired in the prevailing fashions of the day. Women were usually evoked—Aspasia, Cleopatra, Lais, Diana de Poitiers, Mary Queen of Scots, Ninon de l'Enclos Louise de la Valliere. They would look around the room in the most natural manner, talk easily and gracefully, speak of their own lives, and times, and then disap-

I repeat, these wonders are authenticated for true and numerour witnesses. At one of these curious experiments there was gentleman, one Marquis d'Amincourt, who could not bring to mind anybody - he vished to see. Don't smile to There are many people around you who live so completely in and for the present hour, they are ignorant of their yesterday's bosom friends.
"Shall I evoke your wife?" asked Cag-liostro, by way of jogging his memory.—

"My wife! The devil!" exclaimed the Mar quis, and the company laughed an heartily at the involuntary epithet, (which they knew so well merited, for the defunct Marquise was a virago who would have made heaven itself hell, and they had heard the Marquis say, as he returned home from the grave yard, "This ride will do me good!") Cagiostro determined to treat the Marquis d

Amincourt to a sight of his dead wife. This made him so furious he rose from the table, and ran to take his sword, which he had laid aside when he sat down at the table and insisted upon Cagliostrio's crossing swords with him, for he frankly declared he had a great deal, rather die than see her again. The matter, was compromised by the Marquis choosing an ancestor who died in Palestine about the time of the Crusades. Dead wives seem to be horrible obects to live husbands.

[Special Despatches to the Cincinnati Gazette.] Washington, March 20. Hon. Williamson Cobb, a conservative member of the late congress from Alabama, is in Washington. He represents the new government as a fixed institution, and says that no idea of reconstruction, in any event, is entertained. Though he opposed sion originally, he now endorses the shape which it has assumed in the confederate states.

Secretary Chase received a telegraphic dispatch to-day from St. Louis, confirming the report that goods were arriving there free of duty. The mercantile community who have been required to pay duty on their stocks are complaining bitterly that goods, supposed to have arrived in foreign vessels at New Orleans, have been sent by o. F. MEYER & BROTHER. on all such goods in future.

Official Paper of the City. FOR ASSOCIATE JUSTICE OF THE SUPREME COURT, ORSAMUS COLE. Change of County Government.

The bill to change the system of county government passed the assembly Monday morning, and only awaits the signature of the governor to become a law.

This is the most important measure of the session thus far, and some time must elapse before the public business and the statutes can be adjusted to a change so radical and important.

The bill (says the Madison Journal) substitutes for the present board of supervistitutes for the present board of supervi-sors, three commissioners in counties con-taining three or less assembly districts, and state with a bill of some $70,000 for damin counties with a greater number of districts ages on state printing contract. one from each district. In order to avoid an even numbered board, where there an even | April. number of assembly districts in a county, one commissioner is to be chosen from the county at large. Upon this board are con- phia Inquirer writes, under date of the 14th: ferred all the powers now exercised by boards of supervisors. The commissioners are to be chosen at the fall election, and fact that Jeff. Davis and Gov. Pickens have enter upon the discharge of their duties on the first of January next.

1st inst., addressed to a gentleman of Jackson, gives the opinion that from the construction of Mr. Lincoln's cabinet, there will be no war. He says Mr. Seward, if permitted, and President Davis, can settle diately and indignantly rejected the offer the matter in thirty days. Mr. Seward is and told his correspondent that he had hop the premier of the new administration, and ed that their former knowledge of his char-

of this or any other peace programme. Is it by treaty with the seceding states? Then at once? Is it by surrendering all the forts, abandoning the collection of the revenue. and yielding to the demands of the secessionists in every respect? Then what assurance have we that after all these points have been conceded, and the secessionists. have been strengthened by the large amount of munitions in the forts, by the millions of revenue received as duties on imports, and with the prestige at home and abroad of baving triumphed over the government from which they have revolted, that the "Southern Confederacy" will not march an army on Washington, seize the governments buildings and archieves, and wind up the programme by an invasion and annexation of the free states?

Is it not about time that this farce is brought to a conclusion? If the "Southern Confederacy " is really an independent, sovereign power, then recognize her as such, and let there be something of dignity and decency in the negotiations with her. Or if the intention is to assert the supremacy of the old government, let the policy of the government be at least shaped in that direction by some act which shall give some evidence of life and vitality in the govern-

We can see no sort of evidence of any desire or intention on the part of the seceded states to return to the Union. On the contrary, every authoritative declaration and every act of the secessionists is decisive of a fixed determination to maintain their ing states? If any other result can be produced, nobody will be more happy to chronicle it than ourselves and nobody could be. more happy in believing it. But, with present information, we must be ranked among the skeptical.

SPEECH OF SENATOR HOWE,-The Washington reporter of the Cincinnati Gazette. under date of the 22d, says-" Judge Howe, the new senator from Wisconsin, made a decided anti-compromise, anti-amendment speech in the senate to-day, in which he stated that he preferred the constitution as it is. He commented severely on Douglas' sneech, taking the ground that the Illinois senator had placed himself in front of the administration, and had made demands of it, instead of holding forth peace proposi-tions. He thought peace was not worth maintaining, if the sober judgment of the maintaining, if the sober judgment of the work is suspended. Many of the hands had left already, so that there were but 52 people was to be revoked by immediate amendments of the constitution."

Douglas took notes of this speech, with the evident intention of replying to it. Mr. Howe, in his positions, we believe fully and truly represents the republican sentiment of Wisconsin.

SUPREME JUDGE.—The Milwaukee Sentihas formally declared for Judge Cole. It closes an able article by saying-"Judge Cole can be easily elected. But he cannot be elected if his friends are indifferent or and printing office are working a smaller neglect the polls on election day. The number of hands than usual, and the railtime is short. To the great bulk of our readers, this is the last opportunity we have of speaking on the subject. We urge them, has discontinued the night express train one and all, to bear this important matter in mind, and to not fail on town meeting meeting day, to vote the ballot, for ORSA-MUS COLE, for associate justice of the su preme court "

The appeal of the Sentinel is applicable in this county. The friends of Judge Cole should be vigilant and active, and turn out at the volls.

Another Helper .- The La Crosso Re publican, which has till now taken no part in the judicial election, raises the name of Judge Cole, and says-"We place at the Judge Cole, and says—"We place at the inches below where another limb has bead of our columns the name of Hon. Or branched off, forming what is called "a samus Cole, whose integrity, experience and crotch." It is suggested that in some for independence render him better qualified than either of his competitors for the office of associate justice of the supreme court. * During the six years of Judge Cole's services on the supreme court, he has established his integrity and uprightness, as a judge. His experience should qualify him for greater usefulness than any WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

> A REMARKABLE LEGISLATURE.—The Kennebec Journal remarks upon the close of the legislature of Maine: Our reporter for the house states as an nteresting fact, that during the recent session of the legislature there was not an instance in which an appeal was taken from the decision of the speaker; not an argument on parliamentary law ; not a privilege question made in the bouse as to errors in the reporting; not a speech left in manu-script unpublished. The legislature, by the consent of all, was one of the most intellicent, orderly and interesting with which he has ever been acquainted.

THE NEW ONE CENT STAMPED ENVEL OPES.—The post office department has been notified by the contracter that the cheap one cent stamped envelopes, combining the new improvement of the dissolving lines, are now ready for distribution. These envelopes are chiefly intended for circulars. and have been asseed in response to memorials from publishers and merchants of the large cities. They will during the present week be distributed among the most im-portant post offices, for sale by them at one dollar and ten cents per thousand, exclusive of the stamp, which is a reduction of forty cents per thousand upon the rates of the present one cent stamped envelope, comprising this improvement. The Belvidere Standard of this week, has the following wild cat story:

A wild cat, measuring 4 feet 2 inches in present position: and is it not perfectly apparent that every concession to them only length, and weighing 37 pounds, was killed close to Sugar Grove by G. W. Horton, his to issue $4,000,000 in notes, redeemable in The cat was run up a tree, when Mr. H. drew a bead on it with his rifle, and struck it near the eye and tumbled it to the ground, apparently lifeless. It soon recovered, how ever, and made off at a slow place, when the boys followed up with a shot gun and finished it. This is the largest cat we ever heard of and Mr. H. says he has never seen one as large in the course of his life. It is probable that this shy class of "varmints^t is more plenty about here than many suppose, and that they are responsible for the damage to flocks of sheep which is often experienced in this vicinity, and which is laid to dogs.

> MONEY PRESSURE IN GEORGIA.-The money pressure in the south seems to be getting unbearable. A letter from Columbus, Georgia, in the Savannah Republican, BAYS : The bonds authorized by the legislature remaining in the yard to be discharged .remaining in the yard to be discharged.— The contractor for turning the granite bal-usters finished his contract about two weeks since, but the contractor for the granite capitals and marble work have been reduced from 112 to about 70, and they are still going on, but with much uncertainty as to how long. On the first of October last, the total force at work at the quarries and in the yard employed by the state and the contractors amounted to 498, of which 200 were negroes. This is now reduced to less than 100, with prospect of still further reduction. The founderies, machine shops roads are cutting down expenses. The Greenville road has reduced the salaries of all its employees, and the Charlotte road and put its five passenger conductors on reduced pay, running one trip a week each besides reducing all the salaries, from the president down.

GREAT CURIOSITY.-The Peoria Democratic Union says that Mr. J. T. DEATH OF MRS. THOMAS WINANS .-Among the aunouncements under our obituary head is that of the lady of Mr. Thom-Winans. Ordinarily such events are without the limit of journalistic comment. and bounded by the sacred sorrow only of friends and relatives. But the estimable lady whose sudden death has brought this sorrow in an unusually poignant degree to those with whom she was immediately connected, was so largely a public benefactress that every one would seem to have some claim to utter the grief and sympathy that will overflow from thousands of hearts. Her charity was as expansive as the means proprietor of the Peoria Museum, has been for its exercise were plentiful, so well dipresented with the section of the limb of a rected that it did its work always kindly tree, cut forty feet from the ground, upon a and wisely, and yet so quietly exercised that it is only when the open hand of the "Lady Bountiful" is palsied by death that we are at liberty to refer to it. AN OLD VIRGINIA DARKEY .-- On Saturday last we saw an old Virginny negro coming up the landing. We have often seen specimens in the walk around dances of the negro minstrels that have a faint resemblance to the original, but there was always something lacking—something that renders the thing complete. This old felow was tall and thin. He had on big shoes and short pantaloons, a slouch hat, a long-tailed coat and an open waistcoat. His leg was set in the middle of his foot like the haudle of a caulking mallet, and so equally were the parts of his pedestals divided that he hardly knew which way to corn pone, and as he came up the landing dragging his left leg after him, hitching and throwing back his head, he looked like a black boat scudding under bare poles. There was comething irresistibly furny in Mr. Douglas said political proscription his very appearance, and everybody that saw him appreciated his genuineness at once, and laughed at him, though the subsenate, to the public injury and demoralization. SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION. The convention heretofore noticed in our columns will meet at the Congregational church this evening, and continue its sessions until the business before it is disposed of. We understand that the president of the state association, Wm. H. Byron of Milwankee and the agent of the Massachusetts Sabbath school union, have arrived, and will be present. Other prominent friends of Sabbath schools are also expected to be in attendance, and no doubt the proceedings throughout will be interesting, not only to the members of the convention, but to our citizens generally.
